Message from PiP Partnership Manager Mary Passant

This has been an exciting few months for PiP and I feel like we have made some really good new friends a long the way. The last 18 months has reinvigorated my passion to improve services for children and young people by working in partnership with clinicians and health care professional to ensure we keep the children and young people in the centre of all the decision's we make.

The nursing groups have meet on a regular basis to not only provide education and training but to support each other and share the many changes staff have had to initiate on a regular basis. The NHS has been pushed to the limit and staff have had to make decisions that are out of there comfort zones, I believe PiP has provided a safe environment to allow the difficult conversations and provide support to each other.

We have continued to support the Networks to carry on meeting and working together, we have hosted several study days and education programs with over 2000 PiP members joining us on-line.

In the words of Helen Keller "Alone we can do so little, together we can do so much" lets keep working together and keeping to improve the services we provide for the children and young people in the West Midlands.

Partners in Paediatrics Annual Conference

12th October 2021

We are pleased to announce registration is now open for our 2021 Annual Conference and AGM.

The aim of this year's conference is mental health issues within paediatrics; in light of the COVID-19 Pandemic.

In a full and varied programme of both national and local speakers, the conference will seek to provide an overview of paediatric mental health services and give some advice on the current issues partners are facing, with a particular focus on eating disorders, anxiety disorders, the effect of Covid 19 on children and young people and the service provision and information available to support key workers.

Keynote Speakers include:

Elaine Kirwan and Lisa McDonagh - Forward Thinking Birmingham

Jo Bussey - Hearts & Minds Partnership

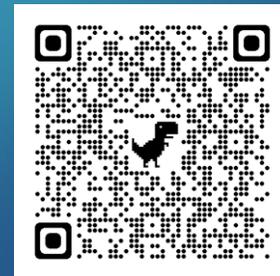

Julie Plant - The Royal Wolverhampton NHS Trust

AGM

The meeting will also include a short AGM for our member organisations where we aim to give you an update of our activities and work programme for the continuing year ahead, Including information about our networks and educations forums.

This event is free to all PiP member organisations.
